

Getting Started

Coca-Cola Bottling Company Consolidated is committed to improving our business processes by implementing proven best practices. If you have identified you would like to become an EDI trading partner with CCBCC, please review the instructions below on how to get started:

- 1) Complete and return the CCBCC EDI Introductory Profile. This form will let the AR EDI Administrator know your company is interested in becoming an EDI trading partner. The EDI Administrator will follow up with a phone call to your company to gather more information, and answer questions. Your company will then be subject to approval by CCBCC to become an EDI trading partner.
- 2) If you are approved as an EDI trading partner you will be instructed to download and print the Letter of Agreement form and the EDI Procedures Guide. Please forward the agreement to appropriate contract/legal area of your company for signature. This form must be signed before testing can begin.
- 3) Once the letter of agreement has been returned to CCBCC, your company will be contacted to set a schedule for beginning communication testing.
- 4) Before trading EDI documents a method of communication must be agreed upon between CCBCC and the Trading Partner. Communication methods approved by CCBCC for transmitting EDI documents are AS2, Secure FTP, VPN and VAN.
- 5) After successful communication testing, the next step is testing EDI data. Please be prepared to send or receive a test EDI document containing test ISA IDs in the agreed upon X12 format. See CCBCC EDI specification documents for mapping requirements.
- 6) Upon successful data testing, a date will be agreed upon as the “go-live date” and transmission will begin in production.
